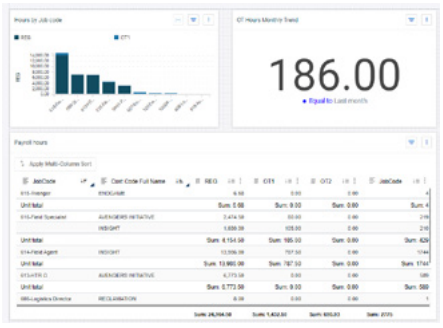
TCP Analytics

What Is It?

TCP Analytics is an ad-hoc reporting engine that enables completely customizable reporting for organizations. With the analytics feature, data-driven decisions become quick and simple with digestible breakdowns of complex workforce management data.



How Does It Work?

The TCP Analytics feature makes the entire database available for creating reports and analytical dashboards. With a few clicks, business leaders can have a personalized view of employee hours, labor data, requests and more.

Key Benefits

- Better insights into time and labor data
- Reduced time and effort analyzing reports
- Simplified reporting for data-driven decisions
