Payroll Integrations

Integrating with Payroll

TCP's TimeClock Plus software has integrations with all the major payroll providers to expedite the payroll process. For many organizations, the payroll process alone is a multi-day affair that drains time, money and other resources. By automating the payroll process, your organization can transfer employee hours and data directly to the payroll software as quickly and efficiently as possible.

How Does It Work?

Our payroll integrations can come in a variety of forms, depending on the payroll provider. If there is a seamless integration, our solution delivers employee data instantaneously to your payroll system without any manual effort. When a seamless integration is unavailable, our configured exports ensure the process is still as simple as a few easy clicks.

Interface Capabilities

Preventing errors during your payroll process saves you valuable time and money. That is why we have created a specialized Payroll Interface Modules (PMI) group dedicated to the development, testing, deployment and support of interfaces between our solution and third-party applications. We maintain integrations with all the major payroll providers and work to ensure the payroll process is as streamlined as it can be.
